

Kroner's Speech about Faith Example

Hello, all of you are aware of who I am, my name is Kroner. I brought you all together today to talk about the importance of your positions and our company. As you all should know, we have a brilliant system within our society that keeps improving every day. Over the past few years, we have experienced a magnificent industrial revolution in which led to our use of machines. Ever since machines were added into our company everything has changed for the better. If you convert the horsepower of one of the bigger steel-mill motors into terms of manpower, you'll find that the motor does more work than the entire slave population of the United States at the time of the Civil War could do - and do it twenty-four hours a day. You can not just sit there and not admit that machines are amazing!! I also believe that one of the main reasons why machines are so successful is because of all of you. Every single one of you contribute to our society with your specific skills and work alongside these machines for the benefit of everyone. As managers and engineers within Illium Works, you are held to high standards and receive high salary incomes because Baer and I appreciate everything you guys do. Everyone's purpose in our modern day is to work with machines, protect, and promote their success to our community. I have faith that the technology and inventions to come will help further the stable established living that we have been beginning to adapt to. I take into consideration all my workers issues and opinions that occur and resolve them as quickly as possible because by me being loyal to you, I expect the same in return for our spectacular system. Everyone should come to realize machines are uprising and are present in everyday stores which helps businesses run smoother and produce higher quality products for all of us. By partnering and coexisting with these machines our purpose is to stay motivated to further them and our society's industrial revolution.

Every single one of you is here for a reason and are a huge part of how our society runs. Never doubt yourselves or your purpose because we care and know that as a whole we all can work alongside machines to keep our system strong, even if some people may think otherwise. Anyone can question the system, but if you truly take a step back and view its delicate process and success then you will have faith in it as well. Our system has never failed and is not going to anytime soon, trust your fellow coworkers and I and know that as long as machines are with us and we have faith in them and how our society works then anything is possible. Let your faith be bigger than your fears, we are on a roller coaster that only goes up. Thank you.
